8. ACCESS AND CORRECTION OF YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

The Company will, on request, provide you with access to the Personal Information the Company holds about you, including for the purpose of correcting or updating that information, unless there is an exception to such disclosure which applies under the APPs.

If you require access to your Personal Information, please contact the Company Secretary. Before the Company provide you with access to your Personal Information the Company will require some proof of identity. For most requests, your information will be provided free of charge, however, the Company may charge a reasonable fee to people outside of the Company if the request requires a substantial effort on our part.

If the Company refuses to provide you with access to the information, the Company will provide you with reasons for the refusal and inform you of any exceptions relied upon under the APPs (unless it would be unreasonable to do so).

The Company takes reasonable steps to ensure that your Personal Information is accurate, complete and up-to-date whenever collected or used. If the Personal Information the Company holds about you is inaccurate, incomplete, irrelevant or out-of-date, please make contact and the Company will take reasonable steps to either correct this information, or if necessary, discuss alternative action with you.

9. HOW WE HOLD AND SECURE YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

The security of your Personal Information is important to the Company. The Company will take reasonable steps to prevent the Personal Information it holds about you from misuse, interference or loss, and from unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. This includes the use of technologies and processes such as access control procedures, network firewalls, encryption and physical security to protect the privacy of your Personal Information.

10. SECURITYHOLDER INFORMATION

If you are a securityholder, the Corporations Act requires the Company to collect information about your name, address and security holding and include these in our register, which is held by us and on our behalf by our registry from time to time. The Company must keep this information included in the register for as long as you remain a securityholder and for a period after you cease to be a securityholder.

The Corporations Act also requires the Company to grant access to anyone to inspect our register on request and, under certain circumstances, to obtain a copy. The Company may provide information from the share register to meet specific requests, for example, identifying the top 20 shareholders or in request under the Corporations Act in a takeover offer context. Securityholder information will not be knowingly disclosed for purposes other than those which the Company considers to be in the best interests of the shareholders or as required by the Corporations Act, other law, policy or the rules of any applicable securities exchange.

As securityholders, you may also be required to provide the Company with your tax file number or financial institution account details so that the Company may make dividend and other payments to you. In compliance with Australian tax laws, the Company also provide certain advice to the Australian Taxation Office, including dividend information.

Under the Anti-Money Laundering and Counter Terrorism Financing Act 2006 (Cth), our share registry from time to time may collect Personal Information about you (such as your legal name and other names you may be known by, your residential street address and your date of birth) and hold other documents in order to verify your identity. This information is generally not included in the public register and is restricted to the Company, authorised share register employees and regulators.
