1. POLICY PURPOSE AND APPLICATION

Australis is committed to complying with its legal obligations and conducting its business and activities ethically and responsibly, with openness, integrity and honesty.

This Policy has been adopted to provide a safe and confidential environment where concerns about unlawful, improper or unethical conducting can be raised by a Whistleblower without fear of reprisal or detrimental treatment.

This Policy sets out:

- who is entitled to protection as a Whistleblower;
- the protections Whistleblowers are entitled to; and
- how disclosures made by Whistleblowers in accordance with this Policy will be handled by Australis.

This Policy is made available in the Corporate Governance section of our website (www.australisoil.com) and on the Company intranet.

This Policy applies to all ~~Directors, officers, executives, employees~~ Australis Personnel wherever they are based.

Australis Employees are required to confirm in writing that they have received, read and understood this Policy as part of their induction and to reconfirm understanding on an annual basis, or as per specified in the Employee Handbook.

Officers and employees of Australis based outside Australia may also be subject to whistleblower laws in the country in which they are based. Refer to section 8 for interaction of this Policy with those other whistleblower laws.

2. WHO IS ELIGIBLE FOR WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION UNDER THIS POLICY?

To be treated as a Whistleblower under this Policy you must:

- be one of the individuals set out in section 2.1;
- disclose information regarding the type of matters set out in section 2.2; and
- disclose that information to one of the persons set out in section 2.3.

This Policy also protects those who are entitled to whistleblower protection under Australian Whistleblower Laws (see section 8 of this Policy).

We encourage you to contact a Whistleblower Protection Officer if you have any questions about making a disclosure or this Policy generally.

In some cases, you may wish to obtain independent legal advice:

- before making a disclosure (for example, if you are thinking about making a disclosure to a Member of Commonwealth, state or territory parliaments or a journalist); or
- if you feel you have suffered detriment because you made a disclosure, including if you wish to seek compensation or remedies in court for potentially detrimental conduct or a failure to protect your identity).

That communication with your legal adviser will also be protected under the Australian Whistleblower Laws (irrespective of the outcome of that advice).

2.1 Who may make a disclosure?

Disclosures can be made by a current or former:

- Australis Employee;
- Contractor of Australis, or their current and former employees;
- Associate of Australis; or
- Family Member of an individual mentioned above.

You may choose to disclose information anonymously if you wish.

2.2 What types of matters can be disclosed?

We encourage people to make disclosures about a broad range of matters. Whilst not all matters will qualify for protection under the Australian Whistleblower Laws, we will treat all disclosures made under this Policy in the same way. However, disclosures cannot be made under this Policy about solely Personal Work-Related Grievances.

To be protected under the Australian Whistleblower Laws, you must make an eligible disclosure and must have reasonable grounds for that disclosure. You can still qualify for protection if your disclosure turns out to be incorrect, but you will not be protected if you make a deliberately false disclosure.

Disclosures can be about any unlawful, improper or unethical conduct which you suspect, on reasonable grounds, has occurred or is occurring within Australis, including conduct by an Officer or employee of Australis or a contractor acting on behalf of Australis.

Examples of disclosable matters may include:

- misconduct or an improper state of affairs or circumstances in relation to Australis, including in relation to:
 - corporate governance
 - accounting or audit matters
 - Tax Affairs, or the Tax Affairs of an Associate of Australis
- illegal conduct at Australis, or by an Officer or employee of Australis or by a contractor acting on behalf of Australis, such as fraud, theft, corruption, bribery, criminal damage to property or breaches of work health and safety laws
- conduct that is contrary to, or a breach of, our policies (including our Code of Conduct or this Policy)
- unfair or unethical dealings with a customer, supplier or member of the public

- an activity that poses a substantial risk to people, property, operations or the environment
- an activity that constitutes a danger to the public or financial system
- conduct that is damaging to Australis' financial position or reputation

2.3 Who should I disclose to?

We encourage you to make your disclosure in writing to a Whistleblower Protection Officer.

Our Whistleblower Protection Officers can be contacted as follows:

- Darren Wasylucha – Chief Corporate Officer
dwasylucha@australisoil.com
- Steve Scudamore – Chair of the Audit and Risk Management Committee
sscudamore@australisoil.com

Alternatively, you can make a disclosure to any one of the following:

- an Officer or Senior Manager within Australis;
- an auditor or member of an audit team conducting an audit on Australis;
- if the disclosure concerns Australis' tax affairs or the tax affairs of an Associate of Australis: Australis' registered tax agent in Australia, or an employee or Officer at Australis who has functions or duties relating to its Tax Affairs and who you consider may be assisted in their role by knowing that information.

2.4 How can a disclosure be made?

You may make a disclosure at any time to the people identified in section 2.3 in person, by email, post, or delivered by hand.

An example form for making a disclosure is attached to this Policy.

If you make a disclosure from or to an Australis email address, your email may be accessed by certain people within our IT department in accordance with Australis's policies. If you are concerned about those limited circumstances in which your email might be accessed, you may prefer to make your disclosure verbally or by mail.

You can make your disclosure anonymously (and stay anonymous throughout and after any investigation) and still qualify for protection under the Australian whistleblower laws.

3. CONFIDENTIALITY

3.1 Whistleblower identity must be kept confidential

Subject to section 3.2, the identity of a Whistleblower (or information that is likely to lead to their identity becoming known) must be kept confidential unless the Whistleblower has consented to the disclosure in writing.

3.2 Permitted exceptions

The identity of a Whistleblower (or information that is likely to lead to their identity becoming known) may be disclosed without the Whistleblower's consent if the disclosure is made to:

- a legal practitioner for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or legal representation in relation to the operation of the Australian Whistleblower Laws;
- the Australian Federal Police;
- the Australian Securities and Investments Commission;
- the Australian Prudential Regulatory Authority; or
- the Australian Commissioner of Taxation if the disclosure concerns Australis' tax affairs or the tax affairs of an Associate of Australis.

3.3 Provision of whistleblower information to a court or tribunal

You must not disclose or produce to a court or tribunal any information or documents which discloses the identity of a Whistleblower (or information likely to lead their identity becoming known) without seeking the advice of a Whistleblower Protection Officer.

3.4 Confidentiality and secure record keeping

Subject to the exceptions allowed under section 3.2 of this Policy or otherwise by law, the identity of a whistleblower (or information that is likely to lead to their identity becoming known) must be kept confidential at all times during and after the investigation (including in any reporting to the Board or to any persons affected). All persons responsible for or involved in an investigation must take all reasonable steps to reduce the risk that a whistleblower will be identified.

Australis will keep your identity and your disclosure confidential and secure by:

- obscuring your name and identifying features from any internal reporting about your disclosure (unless you agree for your identity to be known);
- limiting access to all paper and electronic documents and materials to those directly involved in managing and investigating the disclosure; and
- ensuring that anyone who is involved in handling and investigating your disclosure is aware of the confidentiality requirements.

3.5 Protection from civil, criminal and administrative liability

You will also be protected from any of the following in relation to your disclosure:

- civil liability – for example, any legal action against you for breach of an employment contract, duty of confidentiality or another contractual obligation;
- criminal liability – for example, prosecution for unlawfully releasing information or otherwise using your disclosure against you in a prosecution (other than for making a deliberately false disclosure); and
- administrative liability – for example, disciplinary action for making a disclosure.

However, you may be liable for any personal misconduct revealed by your disclosure.

3.6 Compensation and other remedies

You may seek compensation and other remedies through the courts if:

- you suffer loss, damage or injury because of a disclosure; and
- Australis failed to take reasonable precautions and exercise due diligence to prevent detrimental conduct.

3.7 Support and practical protections

Australis has in place processes for protecting, supporting and monitoring the welfare of anyone who makes a disclosure. This includes risk assessment of any potential detriment, work adjustment considerations and support services such as counselling; and stress management strategies and training for staff.

4. PROHIBITION AGAINST VICTIMISATION

4.1 No victimisation based on whistleblower status

You must not cause or threaten any Detriment to any person for a reason which includes that they or any other person:

- (a) is or proposes to be a Whistleblower; or
- (b) is suspected or believed to be, or could be a, a Whistleblower.

However, a Whistleblower may be held liable for any personal misconduct revealed by their disclosure or an investigation following a disclosure.

“Detriment” includes (but is not limited to):

- dismissal;
- injury of an employee in their employment;
- alteration of an employee’s position or duties to their disadvantage;
- discrimination, harassment or intimidation;
- harm or injury including psychological harm, damage to property, reputation or business of financial position;
- taking action against a Whistleblower to enforce a right (for example, a breach of confidentiality) or subjecting them to any liability or action, simply for making a disclosure.

5. INVESTIGATIONS OF INFORMATION DISCLOSED UNDER THIS POLICY

When a disclosure is made which may fall under this Policy, the following steps must be followed except where, in the opinion of the Whistleblower Protection Officer, it would be inappropriate or unreasonable in the circumstances to do so:

- any person listed in section 2.3 who receives a disclosure under this Policy must provide the information to a Whistleblower Protection Officer as soon as practicable, removing any information which identifies or may identify the discloser of the information (the potential Whistleblower) prior to doing so (unless the potential Whistleblower has provided their consent, in writing, to that disclosure);
- as soon as practicable, the Whistleblower Protection Officer must determine whether the disclosure falls within the scope of this Policy and, if so, appoint an investigator with no personal interest in the matter to conduct an investigation into the matters disclosed, if they determine it to be necessary or appropriate;

- the investigator must conduct any investigation in an objective and fair manner, ensuring to provide any employee who has been adversely mentioned in information provided by a Whistleblower an opportunity to respond to the allegations made in respect of them prior to any adverse findings being made;
- the outcome of the investigation must be reported to the Board, and may be reported to the Whistleblower and any persons affected as the Whistleblower Protection Officer considers appropriate;
- subject to the exceptions allowed under section 3.2 of this Policy or otherwise by law, the identity of a Whistleblower (or information that is likely to lead to their identity becoming known) must be kept confidential at all times during and after the investigation (including in any reporting to the Board or to any persons affected). All persons responsible for or involved in an investigation must take all reasonable steps to reduce the risk that a Whistleblower will be identified; and
- a Whistleblower may raise any concerns or complaints regarding this Policy or their treatment with the Whistleblower Protection Officer.

6. REPORTING

Subject to the confidentiality obligations in section 3, the Whistleblower Protection Officers must provide the Audit and Risk Management Committee at least quarterly reports on all active Whistleblower matters, including information on:

- the number and nature of disclosures made in the last quarter;
- how disclosures were reported;
- the frequency of communications with disclosers;
- the status of any investigations underway;
- the outcomes of any investigations completed and actions taken as a result of those investigations; and
- the timeframes for responding and investigating disclosures.

The ARMC will also be immediately informed of any material incidents reported under this Policy, including any information that may be materially price sensitive in accordance with Australis's Continuous Disclosure Policy.

7. TRAINING

All Officers and employees of Australis must attend compulsory training organised by Australis regarding its Whistleblower program.

All the persons listed in section 2.3 of this Policy must attend compulsory training organised by Australis on responding appropriately to disclosures made by Whistleblowers or potential Whistleblowers.

Australis Employees must attend compulsory training on our whistleblower program which will include information on how to make a disclosure, what the disclosure can be about, to whom a disclosure can make it, the protections and support available and when further information or independent legal advice might be sought.

8. HOW THIS POLICY INTERACTS WITH WHISTLEBLOWER LAWS

8.1 Australian whistleblower laws

By making a disclosure in accordance with this Policy, you may also be afforded protection under the Australian Whistleblower Laws. Nothing in this Policy is intended to derogate or shall have the effect of derogating any obligations of Australis or any rights of a Whistleblower that are created by or provided under the Australian Whistleblower Laws.

While this Policy principally deals with internal disclosures of information, the Australian Whistleblower Laws also protect some types of disclosure made to external parties (such as to legal representatives, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission, to the Commissioner of Taxation, members of parliament or journalists and regulatory authorities in the United States, the United Kingdom and European countries). Any person who is a Whistleblower under the Australian Whistleblower Laws must be treated in accordance with, and is entitled to the protections afforded by, this Policy.

For more information about these regimes, see the information available on the ASIC website and ATO website.

8.2 Whistleblower laws outside Australia

If you are an Australis Officer or employee based outside Australia, whistleblower laws in the country in which you are based may also apply and may impose additional obligations and may or may not afford additional protections to you.

9. POLICY REVIEW

This Policy must be reviewed by the Audit and Risk Management Committee with the assistance of the Whistleblower Protection Officers at least annually to ensure it is operating effectively. Any recommended changes must be approved by the Board.

10. CONSEQUENCES FOR NON-COMPLIANCE WITH POLICY

Any breach of sections 3 and 4 by an Officer, employee or contractor will be taken seriously by Australis, and may be the subject of a separate investigation and/or disciplinary action.

A breach of this Policy may also amount to a civil or criminal contravention under the Australian Whistleblower Laws, giving rise to significant penalties.

We encourage you to raise any concerns about non-compliance with this Policy with the Whistleblower Protection Officer in the first instance. You can also lodge any concerns to ASIC or the ATO for investigation.
